COOKING 101

Join Purdue Extension Dearborn County Educator Marcia Parcell for a free, live Cooking 101 class, streamed from the Lawrenceburg Main Library, at 6 p.m. Monday, April 24, via Facebook Live.

You can watch the class live on the Purdue Extension Dearborn County or Lawrenceburg Public Library District Facebook pages. If you are busy, check back later to watch the video recording.

Find the recipes and ingredients ahead of time at extension.purdue.edu/county/Dearborn under Health & Human Sciences. Questions? Contact Marcia at mparcell@purdue.edu or call 812-926-1189. Class also planned for May 22.

Project Hope's Creative Writing Exhibit a powerful look at addiction

Through the windows in the hallway leading up to the Lawrenceburg Main Library Depot Room, you can see the totem pole filled with images displayed in the courtyard.

These images were created by members and alumni of the Dearborn County Jail Chemical Addictions Program, working to help people recovering from chemical dependency issues.

Visual art is one way for those recovering to tell their story, find ways to heal and give back something positive to the community through a program called Project Hope.

Now, lined along those same walls leading up to the Depot Room, Project Hope returns Thursday, April 20, with some of these raw and heartfelt feelings and experiences shared in words.

Dearborn County JCAP Alumni's Project Hope and the Lawrenceburg Public Library District will present a Creative Writing Reception and Exhibit of over 40 writings about addiction recovery.

The reception will begin at noon April 20 with speakers and light refreshments. A smaller questions-only reception will be held from 3:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Be aware the content will contain unedited, adult themes about addiction.

The display was inspired by The Clothesline Project, which hangs t-shirts on a clothesline, decorated by women who have experienced violence, said Dearborn County JCAP Director of Clinical Services Tisha Linzy.

Creative writing offers a different outlet, in addition to the more visual art Project Hope has facilitated, with the help of local artist LeAnn Price, she said.

The writings were collected over the course of a year. A lot of them address saying goodbye to addiction, she said.

"I think it will be a powerful, unique art installation," said Linzy.

The exhibit will be open for viewing during regular library hours Thursday, April 20, until Saturday, April 29, Lawrenceburg Main Library. Library closed on Sundays

Get ready and grow for the upcoming May Plant Swap

Considering planting a garden as grocery prices rise? Or do you want to add some variety to your flowers and plants?

Then plan on attending the Plant Swap at the Lawrenceburg Main Library and North Dearborn Branch Library from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, May 20.

We are letting you know early so you have the chance to start a few plants to trade! Get those seeds in some soil. You can even bring seeds to swap if you do not have a chance to get plants started.

But what if you do not have a garden, houseplants or seeds to swap yet? Stop by anyway! There will be a limited number of plants and seeds at both locations available for free without a swap.

What kind of plants will be available? Well, we will not know everything until the day of the swap. We are not sure what other people will bring, but thanks to some staff members, volunteers, Dearborn County Historical Society, SEI Community Gardens and more, we do have a place to start.

If everything grows according to plan, there will be some herbs including borage, chamomile and basil. Peppers, squash, cucumber, zinnias, mimosa, sunflowers and milkweed also are on the "keep your fingers crossed" list.

To know for sure, you need to attend! So, mark your calendar and start planting. We hope to see you there. No registration needed.

Reading for Adults

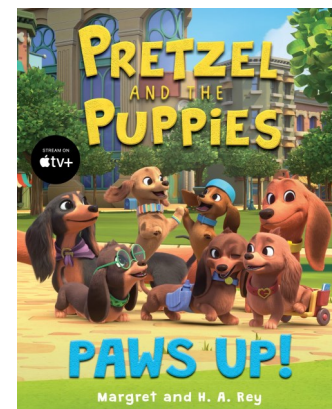

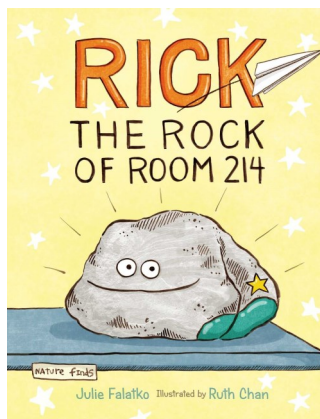

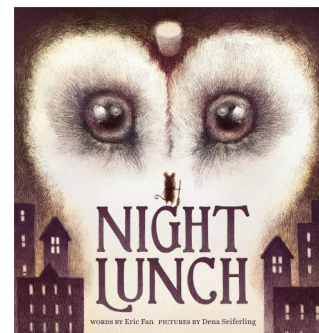

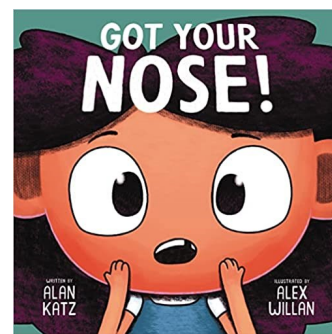

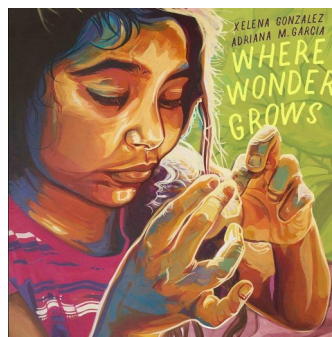

Seven Girls Gone

By Allison Brennan

For three years, women have been going missing- and eventually turning up dead in the small bayou town of St. Augustine, Louisiana. Police detective Beau Hebert is the only one who seems to care, but with every witness quickly silenced and a corrupt police department set on keeping the cases unsolved, Beau's investigation stalls at every turn. But in a town where everyone knows everyone, talking gets you killed and secrets stay buried, it's going to take the entire team working around the clock to unravel the truth. Especially when they discover that the deep-seated corruption and the deadly drug-trafficking ring at the center of it all extends far beyond the small-town borders.

Hear 10 Poems that Rocked the World

Then help roundup sweet rattle noises for kids at Cinti. Children's Hospital

In celebration of National Poetry Month, English Professor Emeritus Ron Nicholson will present Ten Poems that Rocked the World starting at 6 p.m. Thursday, April 13, at the Lawrenceburg Main Library.

Learn some background on how poetry can affect society, notes on the authors, a reading of each piece, and some context/explanation/tidbits as well as some anecdotes. Robert Frost, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Emily Dickinson, Langston Hughes and more will be discussed.

His program will be followed by a Poetry Slam! presented by the Friends of the Lawrenceburg Public Library District. Both programs will be presented in-person and via Zoom. Register if you want a Zoom link.

Meanwhile, continuing into the month of April, Lawrenceburg Main Library will continue to be a drop-off location for the Rattle Roundup, being held in honor of Ron and his wife Kathleen's late grandson, Oliver. Drop off new rattles in the original packaging to be donated to Cincinnati Children's Medical Center.

Friends host poetry slam, prep book sale

Interested in learning more about poetry or sharing a poem of your own?

Join us on Thursday, April 13, for a hybrid (in-person and virtual) event starting at 6 p.m. celebrating National Poetry Month.

First, we will have an educational segment, Poems that Rocked the World, hosted by Ron Nicholson, former Ivy Tech English professor. Then, we will have a poetry slam and drawing to win books of poetry. We hope to see you there! If you have any questions, reach out: LPLDFriends@gmail.com.

In February, the Friends donated nine (heavy!) boxes of Young Adult books to the Cincinnati-based non-profit Crayons to Computers, who help to distribute supplies to teachers around our community for their classrooms.

Since 1997, they have distributed more than $184M worth of free school supplies based on donations.

We're happy to contribute to advancing the learning and literacy of children in the Cincinnati area.

Mark your calendars for our upcoming book sale at the Main Branch Friday, May 5, and the North Dearborn Branch Saturday, May

6. Details to come. If you're interested in volunteering to organize books for the sale or working the events, let us know!

If you'd like to sign up for membership, please visit www.givebutter.com/LPLDFriends or to learn more about the Friends, visit our website at www.lpld.lib.in.us/friends-of-the-library
