

Exciting changes are coming to the Lawrenceburg Library

By Jake Moore
LPLD Director

As we turn the page (see what I did there?) from 2025 to 2026, it's time to share some exciting news at the Lawrenceburg Public Library.

Thanks to generous assistance from the Lawrenceburg Public Library Services and Resources Foundation, we are getting ready to launch what we're affectionately calling our Main Library Refresh, and it will kick off right at the beginning of the New Year!

But why are we doing this? Frankly, the carpet and paint are worn out and need to be replaced, and if you've spent time relaxing in our chairs, you'll notice there are fewer and fewer available for you to sit in.

Furniture tends to break after 20 years. We have previously renovated spaces on the second floor and the Ewbank Meeting Room, and this refresh will connect those three spaces, making the building feel like a more unified space. Let's get into a bit of the details:

The current paint and flooring have served us well, but years of traffic, rolling carts, and general wear and tear and have taken their toll.

We will be replacing the existing flooring and painting throughout much of the Library. This specifically includes the Children's Area, the Main Atrium and Cafe, and the collection space on the first floor. These spaces will have bright and welcoming options that will help to create a relaxing environment where you can browse for something new to read, enjoy a cup of coffee, or sit down to work on a puzzle.

Perhaps the most exciting change will be the new furniture! While not every piece will be new, the upgraded furniture will include reading chairs and study tables, seating and play spaces in our Children's and our Teen areas, and cafe tables and seating in the Friendly Bean.

What will probably be the most dramatic change is a new circulation desk designed to better serve our community. The new furniture will be flexible, comfortable, and most of all, usable.

We hope it will encourage you to spend more time here, whether you're seeking quiet solitude or collaborative space.

We won't lie to you, renovation projects can be disruptive, and we want to be upfront: there will be noise and temporary adjustments while these changes are being implemented. But through all of this work we are planning to keep the library open.

In December, efforts began to start moving books in preparation for the upcoming construction.

We will minimize inconvenience as much as possible by tackling the work in three phases. This means that while one area of the building might be temporarily closed for painting or flooring, the rest of the collection, the ability to check out materials, and all our programs and events will still be available to you.

Please note, however, that The Depot Meeting Room will need to be closed for the duration of the project to accommodate storage needs.

These phases will kick off at the beginning of January and should be finished by April (just in time for our Local Authors Fair). Please be patient and flexible with the staff as we navigate the logistics.

This refresh reflects the deep commitment that the library has to our community and our dedication to providing a top-tier resource for Lawrenceburg and Dearborn County.

We are so excited for you to see the transformed spaces and create new memories in your Library!

Library district receives $10,000 gift from Carnegie Corporation

Carnegie Libraries hold a special place in American history and in the hearts of generations of Americans. Andrew Carnegie helped build 1,681 libraries across the United States, including the Lawrenceburg Main Library.

Carnegie Corporation of New York is honoring that legacy with $10,000 gifts to the roughly 1,280 Carnegie Libraries still in operation as part of America's 250th anniversary.

The money will be used to maintain the Carnegie portion of the Lawrenceburg Main Library

New online catalog will be unveiled

In January, a new online catalog will debut at the Lawrenceburg Main Library and North Dearborn Branch, aimed at creating a more streamlined, efficient experience for patrons. The new catalog system will be linked to our website starting in February.

With this new system, library patrons can now:

- *Navigate the catalog on their phone, tablet, or computer
- *Use Smart Searches, which have spellcheck, automated search suggestions, and the option to see related keywords to their search
- *Check out and hold eBooks, audiobooks, and more, right from the catalog
- *Select a preferred pickup location from any participating library location
- *Change their communication preferences to be contacted via email, text, or automatic calls
- *See library locations integrated with Google Maps

This is all in addition to the existing features that library patrons can take advantage of, including the ability to enable reader history to let you keep track of what you've checked out, keep existing holds (even if they're frozen), and create reading lists. All of these changes make it easier than ever to save time and money while supporting your local library.

The library software system also supports behind-the-scenes library operations such as cataloging, acquisitions, patron records, and more. Replacing the system is a significant financial investment and commitment of staff to migrate library data and learn the new system.

Train leaves station

You may have noticed the train in the youth services department has left the station. But it is OK! Great things are happening. Thanks to the City of Lawrenceburg crew, headed up by Brad Massey, the train is now at the Lawrenceburg Community Center. Over the next few months, improvements will be made to the youth services department to better serve the community!
